

You're invited to:

The official launch of Lisneal College's new school song & music video

"How Far We've Come"

Lisneal College Assembly Hall

Friday November 13th

1.45pm - 2.45pm

Written, recorded & performed by a specially selected group of musical students from year 8 & 9, this new school song highlights the history of Lisneal College (an amalgamation of Faughan Valley and Clondermott Highschool, officially opened in 2007), big moments for the school over the years; from performances at The Peace Bridge to big wins for sports teams, as well as the experience of being a student in 2026 - the joys, the rebellions, the work, the scary exams!

Facilitated by Sarah Murphy and Cheylene Murphy from Wall2Wall Music, and funded by the Arts Council Creative Schools Partnership scheme, The students met in March 2026 and formed a 20 strong live band of drums, guitars, trumpets, flute, violin, keyboards and singers, and learned how to improvise, write, record, make a music video and plan an event over the series of workshops. They also interviewed teachers, past pupils and the principal to research their school and attended a performance of 'Matilda' in Dublin for creative inspiration. The result is a hopeful and energetic serving representing a vibrant school that has been a key part of the community for generations. To quote their chorus "Look at how far we've come, look at how far we are going"

This launch will see the students launch their song and music video, perform live and have special guests Hannah Richardson (artist with punk rock band Cherym) Jordon O'Keefe (singer-songwriter) and Naoimh Morgan (musicals and film actress) who will speak about music, creativity as a teenager and reflect on the newly created school song. There will also be words from current Principal Ms R Mullan and old photos of Lisneal College, Faughan Valley and Clondermott High - gathered as research for this song. Come along to reflect on the impact Lisneal College has had on the community, remember what it's like to be a student in school and celebrate the voices of the young musicians of 2026.
